

Scoring the CONFIDENCE, not the accuracy — RMSE is a control here, never the criterion

A rule neither cheat can win: inflate and you lose the credit, shrink and you pay the penalty. A2 buys the sharpest claim in the network and cannot pay for it; A5 is the only arm good at both.

Why RMSE could not decide this

